

Brute Force Attacks

SSH is a service that we always want to brute force to test for password strength and see the blue team can catch us on our brute force. This is a good way to assess the blue team current status, if they can see the brute force, if they do not see it at all, etc..

We are going to be using Hydra for the purposes of the Brute force.

Very straight forward. We can try it later maybe.